

Persée: Request for authorization of online diffusion

Dear colleagues,

It is with great pleasure that we inform you that the journal Études celtiques will soon publish its entire collection from 1936 on on the Internet. This collection will be added to the free public web portal Persée, developed with the support of the Ministère de l'Éducation nationale, de l'Enseignement supérieur et de la Recherche. This website aims to include the most prestigious French journals, particularly in human and social sciences. This online diffusion, based on a free access policy, will be accompanied with a moving wall of two years.

Nowadays, in order to be recognized, research findings must be published on the Internet, so the online publication increases the visibility of the research conducted in French speaking countries within the international scientific market and will benefit to our scientific production.

In order to best conduct this operation while respecting our authors or their copyright holders, it is necessary to obtain a non-exclusive explicit authorization to reproduce and publish online their articles or contributions published in Études celtiques.

We will ensure that every article is accompanied by the required information to identify and quote it (author, journal references, date, etc.) and that each reader who consults our collections is reminded that these texts must not be reproduced (except for strictly private use) or published and that the short quotation system (as defined in French legislation) must be adhered to.

We hope that you will again express your confidence in Études celtiques and that you will accept to be part of its future projects. Please take a moment to fill, sign and return the enclosed form (by e-mail or post) at: Études celtiques
